Greetings from The Carlton Winemakers Studio,

Spring arrived early here in the Willamette Valley. Winemakers at the Studio divide their time between blending and starting to keep their eye on the new growth in their vineyards.

Vines pushed their first leaves as early as March 25th this year. This is quite early when you consider that historical budbreak averages about three weeks later. Budbreak, however, can vary drastically based on the terrain and local climate. Lazy River Vineyard, for instance, ranged between late March at the top of the hill to late April at the bottom, where cool air tends to collect.

Early budbreak generally indicates an early harvest, but not necessarily. The real correlation is between flowering and harvest, where fruit is often harvested 100-120 days post flowering. Growth so far this spring has been slower than usual because night-time and soil temperatures have been slightly cooler. The hope is that temperatures will cool enough to delay the onset of flowering and consequently harvest.

Meanwhile, we are extremely pleased to announce our new Wine Club Coordinator, Amanda Neubig. Amanda comes to us with years of hospitality and catering experience. She is a wonderful person and we hope that you feel free to contact her with any issues.

SPRING WINE CLUB PICK UP EVENT Saturday, May 16th, 5-8pm

Come in and taste the wines from your Spring Wine Club selection paired with fabulous hors d' oeuvres from Market Barrel. Don't forget that case reorders on any of the wines in your shipment made before June 15th will be discounted 20%, making this the perfect time to stock up your cellar.

2012 Utopia Estate Reserve Pinot Noir Clone 777

The 2012 Utopia Clone 777 (whole cluster fermented) is lush, deep, and complex, offering a mouthful of black cherry, plum and spice flavors that sail smoothly and serenely over refined tannins. With a beckoning current of smoke and sandalwood and an overall equilibrium on the palate that delivers all sorts of complexity, from black cherry and berry to plum, earth and a savory spice. Spectacular!

2012 Mad Violets Mantis Reserve Pinot Noir

The 2012 Mantis Reserve is a blend of 50% Buttonfield Estate (Chehalem Mt. AVA) and 50% Huntington Hill Vineyard (Van Duzer/Perrydale area) fruit. This wine was crafted with 40% new oak and an indigenous fermentation; it expresses a purely fruitful core with silky, seamless tannins. The nose is laden with layers of dried roses and orange peel with just a hint of anise. The mouth is lush with black and red fruits and a spicy finish of allspice and nutmeg. This wine is classic Oregon Pinot from a terrific vintage. Ideal acidity and a finely layered structure make this wine great now and for 10-15 more years.
(100 cases produced)

2010 Trout Lily Ranch Chehalem Mountain Pinot noir

Dark ruby and garnet hue with undertones of blood orange. The nose is savory with aromas of cedar and tobacco and hints of smoked paprika, cola, and black plum. The mouth explodes with the bright fruit of strawberry jam and layers of baking spices. The balanced acidity is enveloped in smooth oak and silky tannins that contribute to the lingering finish. Drink now thru 2022.
